Suggested next steps (if not final decision please set out below)

1. Summary

- 1.1 The report provides a review of the 2016 Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) Election and EU Referendum administered by Warwick District Council, the issues that occurred and how they were resolved. It also provides an update on the implementation of the action plan brought to this Committee following the May 2015 election.

2. Recommendation

- 2.1 The Committee notes the contents of the report, including the overview of the implemented Action Plan (Appendix 1) along with the summary of issues of the PCC Election (Appendix 2) and EU referendum (Appendix 3).
- 2.2 The Committee supports the planned changes for subsequent elections and referendums, as set out at Appendix 4 to the report.

3. Reasons for the Recommendation

- 3.1 This report follows on from the review of the 2015 elections administered by Warwick District Council. It provides an update on the agreed action plan following these elections but also provides an overview of the aspects of the PCC Election and EU referendum administered by this Council.
- 3.2 The previous action plan (Appendix 1) is included providing an update of what has been achieved to date.
- 3.3 The summaries of the PCC Election (Appendix 2) and EU referendum (Appendix 3) are included for information and provide an overview of the impact of these on the Council and the challenges that were addressed.
- 3.4 The action plan for changes to delivery of future elections and referendums, Appendix 4, provides a list of those actions to be carried forward and who is responsible for them. This includes some more challenging areas to address.

4. Policy Framework

- 4.1 Policy Framework – The report does not impact on the Policy Framework of the Council.

- 4.2 Fit for the Future –The report sets out how the PCC election and referendum were delivered and reviewed in line with Fit for the Future’s 3 strands:

Service – to maintain or improve services

The action plan will help the Council to improve its election services.

Money – to achieve a sustainable balanced budget

The report demonstrates how the Council will continue to deliver value for money and balance its budget.

People – to support through change

The report shows the efforts that staff made and how they can be supported in the future in delivering the election service.

- 4.3 Impact Assessments – No impact assessment is required.

5. Budgetary Framework

- 5.1 Accounts for elections/national referendum have to be submitted to the Electoral Claims unit within 6 months of the poll taking place. On this basis the accounts for the PCC Election and EU referendum are in the process of collation but it is anticipated that they will be less than the grant provision for administering these elections meaning there will not be any financial liability for the District Council.

6. Risks

- 6.1 There are few risks associated with the report because it is a statement of what has occurred and sets out an action plan for future developments for delivery of elections. Therefore, the main risks are associated with the failure to deliver the proposed actions specifically those in required in three or four years' time. To mitigate against these risks the Elections Team will hold this action plan and review it both prior to each election, to see what action needs to be implemented, as part of the project planning process, and after each election, to see if any new actions need to be included.

7. Alternative Option(s) considered

- 7.1 The Committee could propose other actions for the Returning Officer to consider and could also provide further feedback on the operation of the PCC Referendum and EU Referendum. The delivery of the actions and decision on what actions should be taken is then the responsibility of the Returning Officer.

Lessons Learned from the 2015 and Improvements for the 2016 Elections

No.	Action	By when
1	The Council will establish an office base at Stoneleigh Park, from 6.00pm on election day, with a phone line to enable queries to be answered easily	This was used for the PCC Election & EU Referendum in 2016. It enabled the core team to staff the office and yet all be on site at Stoneleigh park by 6.00pm. It enabled an improved level of customer service and provided direct contact for polling staff with the team.
2	Myton Fields will be the location for the Myton Road polling station where two porta cabins will be available.	This arrangement will continue to be used until further notice.
3	The process to hand out ballot boxes will be simplified. Presiding Officers will have already completed their training on-line so any discussion will be limited to last minute issues and questions.	This was introduced and proved very popular with Presiding Officers. It was amended again to allow a longer briefing (25 minutes) for the referendum but without online training.
4	For significant elections the Deputy Returning Officers will have an additional support resource to assist with questions from their verification table and / or count clerks	May 2019 election or any UK Parliamentary election which may be called. – Action to be carried forward.
5	Training will take place for all Verification and Count Clerks prior to the count at each election. This is likely to be on the evening of the count and the staff will be required to arrive 30 minutes earlier.	This was implemented for the PCC election and revised again for the referendum in June. The revision in June provided a clearly marked designated area to meet for the training.
6	The Elections Manager and Democratic Services Manager will be in a fixed location for the duration of the count to enable easy access to them	This was implemented for the PCC election and retained for the EU referendum.
7	Candidate appointments for checking nomination forms will be operated via an electronic calendar	March 2017 – Action to be carried forward
8	Weekly and then daily progress meetings will take place in the run up to election day	This was implemented for the PCC election and retained for the EU referendum. This was well received by the team and the project board also attended when available.

9	The team are looking at the potential to produce an on line video to demonstrate how to complete and return a postal vote for electors.	This was not realised and it was noted the number of enquiries of this nature were significantly less this year. This will be looked at again as part of the tender process for postal vote printing.
10	A simple 'how to' guide for the elections system will be developed. Should additional resource be called upon, staff will have an easy to use reference guide.	This was introduced and used for the core team and front line team. This will be repeated for future elections.
11	For 2020 Parliamentary election candidates' deposits will only be accepted if full payment / candidate details are received so that should the deposit have to be returned it will be easy to do so.	March 2020 – Action carried to be forward.
12	Improved estimating for Parish/Town Council election costs	An officer has been nominated from Finance to work on this project which will see improved estimates to Council's for inclusion in their 2017/18 budget process.
13	Issue Parish & Town Council election invoices in a timelier manner. (NB: this cannot be completed until the accounts are closed for the election. The Election Accounts have to be closed within 6 months of the election)	An officer has been nominated from Finance to work on this project in future years.
14	A report has been considered and approved by Employment Committee to increase the permanent resource for the Electoral Services Team	The new structure of Electoral Service is now in place and personal development programmes are produced for the new team members.
15	The central verification did not work as effectively as anticipated. This process is being reviewed by the Head of Finance with a view to improving the process and ensuring appropriate staffing for this vital role	A new process was introduced, with smaller teams verifying ballot box content and retaining ballot boxes and ballot paper accounts in the order they arrived to the count venue. The use of the Express system in "live" mode was successfully piloted.
16	Proof reading of ballot papers and poll cards will be carried out away from the office by two officers verifying the documents.	Completed and for reference this time it took place in the normal office and when the rest of team where away from their desks.

17	The tender specification for the new elections print contract will include the requirement that the data files will not be rebuilt into a new format.	Tender specification is in draft form. This requirement will be discussed with the Elections System Supplier to ensure this occurs. Work will start in earnest during September on this project.
18	The tender specification for the new print contract will state sub-contracting work is not allowed and the printers will need to show, transparency of where data is in terms of printing and despatch.	Tender specification is in draft form. Work will start in earnest during September on this project.
19	Ensure written confirmation of postal vote despatch and figures from the Council's supplier.	Agreed and was in place for 2016. Details arrived through either day of despatch or day after. In both cases verbal confirmation was received on the day of despatch.
20	In future, increased resources will be allocated to making up ballot boxes, with each set of boxes being checked to ensure the correct seals are included within them and the correct set of paperwork and equipment.	The new lead officer for this delivered this action, with a small team, within the agreed project timescales. This enabled two working days for a majority* of the content to be checked prior to despatch to presiding officers. (*see EU Referendum issues)
21	For Ward based elections the Council will use the Electoral Commission guidance for ratio of counters to electors and increase this as appropriate if there is more than one election being held at the same time.	March 2017 – Action to be carried forward.
22	Overseas voters –A member of staff will focus on this and the continual addition of people onto the register during the election. The revised team plan will detail individual responsibilities approved, which will be communicated to the team	The team plan and responsibilities are now in place and appropriate training programmes in place for new team members.
23	Overseas postal voters not receiving their postal vote. This was a national issue with vast numbers of postal votes not arriving on time. The electoral commission and cabinet office have advised that anyone overseas should have a proxy vote rather than a vote by post. The Council is also now required to have an Overseas Mail Business account for these and that overseas postal votes are issued first as a priority.	An Overseas Mail Business account is now in place. For reference 535 postal votes were sent overseas, of which 278 were returned. This is a return percentage of 51.96%, but was known to cover, the USA, Canada, Germany, Belgium, France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Sweden, Turkey, Thailand, Hong Kong, Singapore, New Zealand and Australia.

24	Handling increased telephone call volumes. Request for additional resources on a temporary basis is being considered by CMT. In tandem, web pages will be promoted as the first point of contact for customers.	No additional support from outside the Council was used during 2016. However the pressure was reduced by the team being fully staffed (including the new Committee Services Officer) and the part time members of the team significantly increasing their working hours.
25	A simple step by step procedure for verifying ballot box content, which will be introduced for May 2016	Completed and feedback from Presiding Officers has been very positive.
26	Facilities Management at the verification & count	An officer is now allocated to ensure issues like this are picked up. Also included in their brief is reviewing working practices of the team to pick up any Health and Safety risks or training requirements.
27	Polling station changes in Kenilworth. Two additional polling stations will be at the Kenilworth Centre and Heath of England Revival Church & Training Centre in Farmer Ward Road.	Overall this worked well with minor issues in May largely resolved for Referendum.
28	Chase Meadow Community Hall was not big enough for parliamentary election. The larger meeting room will be used in future.	Completed.
29	Brunswick Healthy Living Centre cannot be used as Chris White MP has moved his office into the building. The Council will be using three Porta cabins in the locality to provide these polling stations.	A new permanent location has been found for these and will be confirmed in the Autumn of 2016.
30	Count layout plans will be confirmed no later than two weeks before election day. They will be printed and deposited with all Deputy Returning Officers, central verification lead, postal vote lead and project team.	This was completed in time for May and June and will be included in future elections project plans.
31	When planning an election with neighbouring Council's, agreements that they will confirm to WDC when and what data is uploaded to WDC printers.	January prior to an election where WDC manages the election for neighbouring councils'. Action to be carried forward.
32	Review storage of elections equipment with a view to splitting over two sites as well as review of resilience of IT system and backups if Council HQ was lost. Part of risk management process.	2018 - Action to be carried forward.

33	A fundamental review of the project plan and the process flow will be undertaken before the County Council elections in 2017, to allow for any lessons to be learned from the forthcoming PCC and EU Referendum elections.	October 2016 Action to be carried forward.

Warwickshire Police and Crime Commissioner Election May 2016

The administration of this election was led by the Police Area Returning Officer (PARO) for Warwickshire. For the 2016 election the PARO was an officer from Stratford on Avon District Council.

This meant cross boundary work between all five District/Borough authorities in Warwickshire which was managed through the Warwickshire Elections Officers meetings.

The PARO was originally designated as Paul Lancaster but this changed late on following his retirement from Stratford District Council. His replacement, as PARO, was confirmed in early April as being David Dalby. In addition to this, the Elections Manager at Stratford District Council had left the authority in December 2015 and his replacement, David Dalby, did not take office until late March 2016. Following his appointment as PARO, a temporary Elections Manager was brought in at Stratford to cover both the PCC Election and EU Referendum.

The majority of cross boundary planning had been completed prior to the departure of the Elections Manager for Stratford in December 2015. An Example of this included the count planning along with the count venue. The count venue would be in the Warwick Complex at Stoneleigh Park. Therefore Warwick District would hold its verification of ballot papers at Stoneleigh Park on the Thursday night, then at 7.00am on Friday morning the contract for the Hall would hand over to Stratford District Council who would manage the Count, as the PARO, for the Police and Crime Commissioner Election.

Because of the greater geographical complexity of the PCC election this report cannot consider the overall operation of the Count for the Police and Crime Commissioner, it only addresses those aspects in which Warwick District Council. Comments on the wider Count would need to be directed to Stratford District Council.

Pre-Election Day

The run up to the election was smooth and went according to plan. Demands from customers were low in volume (a peak of 68 telephone calls was reached on election day). There was a small but not significant increase in both the number of people registering to vote and requesting postal votes.

A trend continued on from the May 2015 election with an increasing number of applications for overseas electors and more specifically from the introduction of registering to vote on line.

The delivery of the action plan from 2015 was achieved with the only major difficulty being the contract for the hire of temporary buildings for use as polling stations. This was caused by being unable to verify the framework previously used for the procurement of the temporary building in 2015. As this framework could not be found it was therefore unable to be used again for hiring 5 temporary buildings for an election and a referendum in 2016. However, the supplier used from the previous year was used again under an exemption to the Code of Procurement Practice. This was because they provided better value for money than the providers found via framework agreements.

There was also a difficulty in delivering the polling screens, which appears to be cyclical (one election good, the next election not so good). In this instance it appears to be primarily down to communication and liaising with the contractors and more specifically the team from the contractor who will be delivering the screens each year. The current arrangement has now ended and a revised approach to this is being considered to improve this piece of work.

Election Day

A number of small issues arose on election day itself and all these were resolved by 7.00am.

The first was at Myton Fields, where the presiding officer was unable to gain access to the site because the key he was provided would not open the lock on the gate. Indeed the key held by another officer for the site also did not work and neither did the key held by the Park Ranger. However entry was gained (via bolt cutters) and the polling station was able to operate as usual. On review it was considered the lock had been tampered with between the gates being closed the night before and 6.15am on election day.

The second, third and fourth incidents all related to the failure of polling screens to be delivered, however what transpired was as follows. In one polling station three booths were delivered but one had been stored in a locked cupboard that polling staff were unable to access. In the second, the polling booth was there, just not in the place it is usually stored, so polling staff looked in the wrong place. In the third, the building owner had stored the booth elsewhere and forgot to put it in the room the night before election day and did not arrive on site until 9.00am on election day. In this case a spare had been delivered by the elections team before 7.00am.

In addition to this there was a polling station where the polling booth was reported faulty but on subsequent inspection it was identified it had been assembled incorrectly by the polling staff.

Postal voting

Postal vote opening and handling their secure delivery to Stoneleigh Park worked as planned.

Verification

The verification ran exceptionally smoothly and with a minor change to its operation on the night resulted in the verification being completed 45 minutes earlier than planned. This approach for verification will now continue to be used for in future.

The changes in process for the central verification, following the review with the Head of Finance earlier in the year, also worked exceptionally well and will be rolled forward for future elections

Count

From this Council's perspective the Count operated as expected and the delays in declaring lay with other Councils.

Post-election day

A review was held to discuss any changes which were required for the referendum and also any further changes that could be made to improve further. This included reviewing all the presiding officers' logs and polling station inspectors' logs.

There were some minor points but no significant changes were made.

EU Referendum 23 June 2016

Pre-election

As expected demand was significantly higher than for the PCC election and was almost as high as that experienced in May 2015. For the two elections between 22 days prior to polling day and the day after polling the elections team answered 560 calls for the PCC and 3568 for the EU referendum.

For the 2015 elections the call register covered a 60 day period totalling 6600 calls answered. For the same period in 2016 4423 calls were answered by the team. This excludes telephone calls made and also does not look at the general change in demand to make e-mail enquiries rather than make phone calls.

Graph 1 below provides an illustration of the levels of calls answered for the each election.

These high demand volumes saw a number of decisions being taken, including moving the Civic & Committee Services Team responsibility for responding to elections enquiries at an earlier point than planned and the change of Council meeting dates to increase capacity within the elections team.

The primary concern was the significant hours that three of the elections team were working. On average these were 15 hours a day, five days a week, in a repeated pattern for 8 weeks. For that reason decisions were taken that no work would be undertaken at weekends to provide them a break but also building in a lunch break and late afternoon break for the team. To complement this a team planning meeting was held regularly (to start with twice weekly, then daily) to take decisions on what had to be completed and what would wait, both in terms of elections and other work. Some of the team did work on two Saturdays during this time but only in the morning and this was to ensure that staff who worked on the PCC election were paid correctly and on time.

The significant impact on the pre-election planning was, following the national register to vote website failure, the decision by the Government to extend the deadline for registering to vote. While this deadline change alone was manageable there was a resulting extension which had a greater impact and was perhaps unseen by the Government and wider public.

Firstly the failure of the website led to a number of enquiries, from 10.45pm onwards, from people trying to confirm if their application had come through. In the majority of cases this had been the case but to some we had to explain they had not been registered. Interestingly some people had stopped trying to use the government's website, on deadline day, and emailed the details to the Council directly.

Secondly, communication to Councils about the website failure and what was planned was poor. The Council only becoming aware of what was happening through the media, WDC found itself having to follow various media outlets and twitter accounts, while responding to angry members of the public, to ensure it knew what was happening. Indeed one aspect was not confirmed about what would happen until the revised legislation was submitted to Parliament. This has been fed back to the Electoral Commission and Cabinet office.

The extension of the deadline did see an increase in the electoral register, of 800 electors.

The main issue that arose as a result of the deadline day extension was that the determination day was delayed as well. (Determination Day is once an elector registers to vote, their details are sent for verification by the Department of Works and Pensions. Their registration then becomes live on the electoral register after a 5-day objection period, this being their determination date. This was the part that impacted on Councils most greatly and was not clarified until the legislation was laid before Parliament. This is the day in which people officially go live on the register or have until then for the Council to confirm their status, when they do not match with DWP data. This delay resulted in the elections management software needing to be reconfigured and the supplier was only able to provide a fix for this on the Monday before polling day. Only once this was completed were the Electoral Registers, for use in the polling stations, able to be printed. It was for this reason that the ballot boxes for the referendum were not completed two working days before they were despatched.

These changes in deadlines also meant lost time for the team as each day was planned on what would be delivered. The days lost were those used for producing paperwork and final verification of the count plan. This did impact on the team but in response they recognised what needed to be achieved and instead of having two quieter days with earlier finishes (i.e. 6.00pm instead of 9.00pm) they continued to work long hours.

The presiding officers training/hand out of ballot boxes was amended to include feedback from May and how the team had changed matters and would be looking at further issues. This included such things as the volume and quality of the stationery used in polling stations.

There was also a significant issue in recruiting the number of polling station staff required to meet electoral commission requirements. This was because of holiday season i.e. a lot of our usual staff take holidays in June prior to schools breaking up. There was also difficulty recruiting some count staff because for those who work or who have commitments the next day they do not want to be working all day, then through the night then work the next day. We are equally informed that the low level of pay for potentially long and unsociable hours is putting people off helping. These increasing challenges will be reviewed over the next year because we are aware it is at least a regional issue, if not nationally.

The timing and subject of the referendum was always likely to see an increase in requests for postal votes. Indeed the number of postal votes despatched by this Council increase from 14,500 to 18,500. This level is comparable to the 2015 parliament election of 22,000 (which included 6,000 postal votes for electors in Rugby & Stratford Areas).

There was a total of 95 electors voting by Proxy during the PCC election, increasing to 1277 for the referendum.

As a comparison, in 2014 the Council had circa 60 overseas electors. Since then the figure rose to just over 600 in 2015 and now sits at 1135. This has been reflected nationally as people find it easier to register online than via the previous paper based process. Each of these applications takes approximately 30 minutes to process and the continued increase in numbers has impacted on the elections team. This has been mitigated with the extra resources within the team but needs to be monitored especially as each application, at present, has to be renewed every 12 months. It should be noted that the renewal process usually takes significantly less time, depending on the individual case.

Postal voting

Postal vote opening and handling their secure delivery to Stoneleigh Park worked as planned. Despite the 89% turnout some postal vote opening sessions were not held because the team were processing them so efficiently and effectively.

Election day

Despite the level in demand the day itself passed without any issues. The verification worked as planned and was completed much earlier than planned. However, the time it took to get the Regional Co-ordinator to sign off the verification numbers as acceptable took up most of the time that had been gained.

The Count took longer than expected and this has been reviewed post-election and can be summarised as follows:

Staffing – There is a need to review this because the skill base for and age profile is changing. The core counters used to have cashiering or counting jobs, which have now, by and large, been replaced with electronic processes. The age profile of the count is increasing and this has been observed to affect the count with reduced dexterity and general speed. It was also possible to identify that fatigue set in to some of the counters who had worked all day and were due to be in work the next day.

Count or mini count – Following the count the figures provided did not balance with the verification figure and had to be re-counted more than once more. The use of a large count meant this was difficult to identify where the individual problems were or were more likely to be. Therefore for future similar elections/referendum mini counts will be used.

As a consequence of all of the above the count concluding at 4.00am instead of 3.00am.

Combined with the need to be back at work to complete paperwork and break down the count the next day, the majority of the core elections team worked 30 hours out of a possible 48 hours with some not sleeping between going home at 4.30am Friday and arriving back at work by 8.00am Friday. There is a significant risk associated with this on health and wellbeing of staff and increased likelihood of mistakes or accidents occurring particularly during travel to and from work. This is an issue that will need to be considered and acted upon.

Post-election review

Around 50% of all applications to the electoral register are duplicate requests. During the referendum the level of applications received each day was over 3000. Each duplicate application has to be duly considered and acted upon which takes a significant amount of time. While nothing can be done to reduce this level it is worth noting. However, during the referendum a cause of duplication appeared to national media communication about registering to vote.

The media campaigns encouraging people to register to vote lead to public confusion. This was because; based on the contact at WDC, people thought that they had to register separately from the usual register of electors to vote on the referendum. Indeed some electors called to say that they had received their poll card and asked if it meant they were registered for the referendum.

The referendum also brought a lot of new electors. While nationally this was believed to be younger people, the feedback and contact with electors in Warwick District was that actually a very broad age range of first time electors, including an elector in their 80's voting for the first time.

Members should be mindful that while turn-out was high in Warwick District and nationally, both the local result and national result could have been changed if those people who did not vote, had voted. Therefore, there is still significant work to do to encouraging people to vote. This Council is unable to do this in a run into an election or referendum due to legislative restrictions. Therefore this is a matter to be considered and acted on by all, including Government nationally, local schools, this Council and political parties.

Lessons Learned and Improvements for the 2017 Elections

No.	Action	By who	By when
